

Birds

As you look into the sky
Even the birds look down
And acknowledge your smile ,
Then they quickly flap their wings ,

Fly up

Having realized their home is above
And not where your gaze pulls them

~~I Cried~~

I cried when I couldn't go where I wanted to I cried when I couldn't do what I was capable of

I cried when I lost what was meant to be mine

I cried and cried and cried when ,

I realized that I was useless for this world

But the realization

Forced me to push myself beyond my own capabilities

Now I am the happiest man in this world

Because at least my existence has a meaning now
